

I do not know why the FCC would even consider overturning the New Jersey "no call" legislation. Individuals have the right to be free of unsolicited telephone calls, for any reason; business or otherwise. It is illegal for individuals or businesses to place marketing materials in someones "mailbox" so why should they be allowed to do so over the telephone?